Description :

Prsentation de l'diteurLate one night, an emotionally disturbed woman, Abigail Macy, witnesses a murder. She reports what she saw to the police, but out of fear the killer will return to eliminate her as a witness, she keeps quiet about his identity. When the police investigate her claim, they find no evidence of a crime and, influenced by her psychiatrists diagnosis that she was delusional, they close the case.Abigails condition deteriorates, and she shuts herself away, withdrawn and distraught, refusing to speak to anyone except the occasional word to her husband. To ease her tormented mind, he hires private investigators Jake and Annie Lincoln to find a supposed killer, with no proof one exists. When Abigail is found dead two days later, the coroner rules her death a suicide, but the Lincolns aren't convinced. Now, with the only witness dead, unraveling the truth and finding a murderer becomes even more challenging. The Lincolns find themselves in danger of being the killers' next victims as they are drawn into a perilous web of lies, deceit and cover-ups.

Biographie de l'auteur Rayven T. Hill was born in 1954 in Markham, Ontario. He has had a variety of occupations and careers since then, spending the last fourteen years as a computer programmer and web site designer. His first novel, written in 1960, was an instant hit with his mother and one sibling. He then put his career as a novelist aside for half a century to concentrate on making a living, but has now ventured back into the world of writing. His first real novel, Blood and Justice, was published as an eBook in June 2013. He lives with his wife in Toronto. Visit rayventhill.com for more information.
